++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Showery today, then much colder from Sunday into next week.

Today:
Some sunny spells, but also plenty of showers, occasionally heavy, mostly in the west. Skies will cloud over from the northeast with rain arriving later in the day. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Tonight:
The day's rain will continue moving southwestwards through the evening, increasingly turning to snow, before easing later, leaving an ice risk in places. Some western areas may remain dry. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Sunday:
A dry but cloudy start for most, with some sunny spells north and west. Light snow showers possible, especially in the north. Very cold, with a marked wind chill. Maximum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
All three days mostly dry with plenty of sunny spells, particularly in sheltered areas. A few snow showers possible and it will remain very cold, with a marked wind chill.
